SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 55

1 A RESOLUTION COMMENDING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF WILLIE W. 2 MORRIS OF YAZOO CITY, MISSISSIPPI.

3 WHEREAS, William Weaks Morris was born in 1934 in Jackson, 4 Mississippi, but when he was six months old his parents moved to 5 Yazoo City, a small town located, as he writes in North Toward 6 Home, "on the edge of the Delta, straddling that memorable divide 7 where the hills end and the flat land begins"; and

8 WHEREAS, Willie Morris died August 2, 1999, having nearly 9 finished his latest work, a project with his son about his home 10 state's rich history and future; and

11 WHEREAS, his family members were all story tellers, and he 12 grew up in the almost conscious tradition of recounting tales and 13 handing them down from one generation to the next; and

WHEREAS, after he graduated from high school in 1952 as 14 Valedictorian of his class, he left the familiar Mississippi Delta 15 16 for the University of Texas in Austin, where he became Editor of the student newspaper, the Daily Texan, in his senior year. A 17 member of Phi Beta Kappa when he graduated in 1956, Morris 18 continued his education as a Rhodes Scholar, studying history at 19 Oxford University. When he returned to the United States, he 20 edited the crusading Texas Observer, a liberal weekly newspaper, 21 from 1960 to 1962; and 22

23 WHEREAS, in 1963 Morris became Associate Editor of Harper's 24 magazine and in 1967 he was named editor-in-chief, shortly before 25 the publication of North Toward Home, which not only was a best 26 seller but also received the prestigious Houghton Mifflin Literary 27 Fellowship Award for nonfiction as well as several other honors; 28 and

29 WHEREAS, in 1980 Morris returned to his native state as 30 writer-in-residence at the University of Mississippi in Oxford and 31 wrote The Courting of Marcus Dupree (1983); and

32 WHEREAS, in 1990 Morris married long-time friend JoAnne 33 Prichard, an astute, imaginative Editor at the University Press of 34 Mississippi who was responsible for Homecomings, his award-winning 35 essay collection. After their marriage, they moved to Jackson, 36 Mississippi, where he began poring over Harper's papers and 37 writing old comrades for reminiscences in preparation for a second 38 autobiographical volume, New York Days (1993); and

39 WHEREAS, Willie's impressive publications are as follows: (Nonfiction) North Toward Home (1967); Yazoo: Integration in a 40 Deep-Southern Town (1971); A Southern Album: Recollections of 41 Some People and Places and Times Gone By (1975); James Jones: A 42 43 Friendship (1978); The Courting of Marcus Dupree (1983); 44 Faulkner's Mississippi (1990); New York Days (1993); My Dog Skip (1995); and The Ghosts of Medgar Evers: A Tale of Race, Murder, 45 46 Mississippi and Hollywood (1998); (Essay Collections) The South 47 Today: 100 Years After Appomattox (1965) and Terrains of the 48 Heart; and

WHEREAS, to carry on the work Willie began, a cadre of friends and supporters has been established called the "Friends of Willie Morris," who are hosting an annual event called "Remembering Willie: A Yazoo Celebration" which will bring together many of Willie Morris' boyhood friends, his literary colleagues and his admirers, as well as others touched by his generous heart and evocative prose; and

56 WHEREAS, during the three decades since the London Sunday 57 Times praised his memoir North Toward Homes the "finest evocation 58 of an American boyhood since Mark Twain, "Willie Morris wrote more 59 than a dozen other books and attained national prominence in his 58 S. R. No. 55 *SSO2/R1443* 01/SS02/R1443 PAGE 2 60 career as a journalist, nonfiction writer, novelist, editor and 61 essayist, all placing the South into the larger American 62 perspective, and his recognition brings honor to his home 63 community and to the State of Mississippi:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, That we do hereby commend the life and legacy of William (Willie) Weaks Morris of Yazoo City, Mississippi, one of Mississippi's most famous authors, and recognize his contribution to the literacy heritage of our state.

69 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be 70 presented to the family of Willie Morris, the Mayor of Yazoo City 71 and be made available to the Capitol Press Corps.
