SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 14

A RESOLUTION COMMENDING AND CONGRATULATING PAUL JACKSON OF BROOKHAVEN, MISSISSIPPI, THE DAILY LEADER'S CITIZEN OF THE YEAR.
WHEREAS, Paul Jackson's passion for Brookhaven, Mississippi, and his efforts to make it a better place have earned him the honor of being "The Daily Leader's Citizen of the Year." Those close to him say he is truly deserving; and 7 WHEREAS, born and raised in Brookhaven, Jackson grew up the 8 son of a bricklayer. He spent his early years learning about 9 construction from his father, Lucius, and studying the 10 architecture of Brookhaven. His mother was Beatrice Jackson; and 11 WHEREAS, in 1943, he graduated from Brookhaven High School 12 and was drafted into the Army that same year. He served in Europe 13 during World War II; and

WHEREAS, in his military tenure, he served as a light machine gunner in the European Theatre. He also participated in the campaigns at Normandy, Northern France and the Ardennes. He was discharged in 1946 with a Bronze Star as a token of his gallant service; and

19 WHEREAS, when he returned home, he went to Whitworth College 20 from 1947-1948, married Charlotte Warren and also worked with his 21 father in bricklaying; and

22 WHEREAS, in 1953, he started his own construction company on 23 the prompting of his father, who encouraged his son to follow in his footsteps and stay in the field. In its beginnings, the 24 25 business included only a Ford pickup truck and a wheelbarrow; and WHEREAS, Jackson's first contract job was building a little 26 grocery store on Brookhaven's Washington Street. From there, 27 SS01/R17 14 S. R. No. N1/2 041E/SS01/R17 PAGE 1

Jackson went out to bid for work. When he didn't get general contracting orders, he did masonry projects. He did what he could to make a living since the war slowed construction activity; and WHEREAS, in the 1950's and 1960's, construction picked up, and Jackson started collaborating with Moreton and Pell, one of 33 the major contractors during that time; and

34 WHEREAS, around this time, his two children, Jennifer and35 Paul W., were born; and

WHEREAS, Jackson's construction company incorporated in 1979, 36 37 one year before his pinnacle co-purchase of the Inez Hotel in 38 1980. Jackson and the late John W. "Dub" Sproles, along with several other investors, bought "The Inez" from Mississippi 39 40 College. D.A. Biglane, who had bought "The Inez" in 1945, had donated the building to the school in 1974. The renovation began 41 on December 20, 1986. Real Estate Agent Betsy Smith helped with 42 plans and Jean Rose Smith became "The Inez" apartment's first 43 44 tenant on July 17, 1987. Residents say Jackson will forever be 45 recognized for his efforts at "The Inez"; and

46 WHEREAS, his love for and dedication to preserving the47 history of Brookhaven in many ways goes unsung; and

48 WHEREAS, Jackson also played a part in preserving the 49 Whitworth College campus, which has become the Mississippi School 50 of the Arts, and transforming the old railroad depot into a 51 military museum for veterans; and

52 WHEREAS, in 1996, Jackson officially turned his construction 53 company over to his son, who has been working with him since 1979. 54 His son said his father's work ethics and character have been as 55 solid as the buildings he has constructed; and

56 WHEREAS, family is very important to the 79-year-old retired 57 businessman. He and his wife have three grandchildren, Lindsey 58 and Carly Whittier and John Paul Jackson, whom they love being 59 around. Next to his family, church and serving others are top 60 priorities for Jackson. He has been a Deacon at First Baptist 5. R. No. 14 SSO1/R17 041E/SSO1/R17 PAGE 2 61 Church since the late 1950's, and frequently visits the sick in 62 hospitals and nursing homes; and

63 WHEREAS, although Paul Jackson may not have sought 64 recognition for his efforts, the City of Brookhaven has noticed 65 and appreciated what he has done, and the State of Mississippi 66 also recognizes his civic contributions to his community and to 67 his state:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, That we do hereby commend and congratulate Paul Jackson of Brookhaven, Mississippi, "The Daily Leader's Citizen of the Year," and extend to him and his family the best wishes of the Senate on his future endeavors.

73 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this resolution be presented to 74 Paul Jackson and his family and be made available to the Capitol 75 Press Corps.
