14 Outstanding Tree Farmers of the Year with a resolution, signed by 15 Speaker of the House Tim Ford and Lieutenant Governor Ronnie
16 Musgrove, commending the Thigpens. Chester Thigpen spoke before 17 both houses and entertained members with stories of his thirty
18 years of tree farming. Thigpen considered himself an ambassador 19 for forestry in Mississippi, and spent a lifetime practicing and 20 promoting forestry; and

21 WHEREAS, the Thigpens were Mississippi's 1994 Outstanding 22 Tree Farmers of the Year. After facing stiff competition from 23 73,000 other tree farmers across the nation, they received the 24 national award November 4, 1995, at the National Tree Farmer
25 Convention in St. Louis, Missouri; and

26 WHEREAS, as National Outstanding Tree Farmer, Chester Thigpen
27 served for two years on the National Tree Farm Operating

30 Editorial Board of Tree Farmer Magazine; and

31 WHEREAS, both Chester and Rosett Thigpen were born on 32 portions of the land that now make up the tree farm. With the 33 help of their county forester, they developed a written forestry

37 children; and

39 Commission, on the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Forestry
40 Association, and as President of the Jasper County Forestry
41 Association. He traveled to Washington, D.C., in February 1995 to 42 testify before the U.S. House of Representatives Ways and Means
43 Committee in support of estate tax reform. By promoting forestry 44 field days and county forestry associations, Thigpen shared his 45 knowledge of good stewardship with his community; and

46 WHEREAS, in 1966, Chester Thigpen served on the Mississippi
47 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service's Advisory 48 Committee. This position took him to Washington, D.C., where he 51 serve a seven-year term on the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

52 In 1983, Thigpen was entered into the Mississippi Agriculture and 53 Forestry Museum's Hall of Fame. He was instrumental in organizing 54 the Jasper County Forestry Association; and

55 WHEREAS, Chester Thigpen was always philosophical when 56 speaking about the long-term benefits of tree farming. "It could 57 reduce crime and welfare. It helps keep your mind off things."

59 "If you can't handle the cattle and hay anymore, move over to 60 trees totally. The trees grow while I sleep"; and

62 Thigpen; daughter, Inez Pride; father, Frank Thigpen; and mother,
