3 LEGISLATOR AND FORMER LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR FROM CHARLESTON,
4 MISSISSIPPI, AND EXPRESSING THE SYMPATHY OF THE LEGISLATURE.

5 WHEREAS, the Legislature and the State of Mississippi lost a 6 wonderful friend, colleague, gentleman, Capitol icon and 7 enlightened lawmaker with the death of former Lieutenant Governor
8 Bradford Johnson Dye, Jr., 84, on Sunday, July 1, 2018. Phil 9 Bryant, by the authority vested in the Governor by the 10 Constitution and laws of the State of Mississippi, proclaimed a 11 period of official mourning in the State of Mississippi and 12 ordered all flags of the United States of America and the State of 13 Mississippi to be flown at half-staff on all buildings and grounds
14 of the State of Mississippi and all areas under its jurisdiction 15 on Tuesday, July 3, 2018, in remembrance of this dedicated 16 Mississippi public servant; and

17 WHEREAS, after three terms as Lieutenant Governor of 18 Mississippi, Brad Dye was an Attorney with Pyle, Mills, Dye and 19 Pittman in Ridgeland until retiring in 2017. He served over 11

20 years until 2015 as Director, Public Finance, Duncan-Williams, 21 Inc., Investment Bankers based in Memphis. Beginning in 1993, he 22 was a Director of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board of Dallas for 23 11 years; and

24 WHEREAS, Brad Dye, son of Maylise Dogan Dye and Bradford J.
25 Dye, was a native of Charleston, Mississippi, where he was an 26 Eagle Scout. After graduating from Charleston High School, he 27 entered the University of Mississippi and obtained his Bachelor of 28 Business Administration in January 1957. Two years later, he 29 received his degree from the University of Mississippi Law School.
30 While at Ole Miss, Dye was active in the Associated Student Body, 31 having first been elected Treasurer and later President of the 32 Student Body. He also served two terms as President of Pi Kappa 33 Alpha Fraternity, and in the 1980s, he was inducted into the Gamma 34 Iota Chapter, Pi Kappa Alpha Hall of Fame. As an undergraduate, 35 Dye was named to the Ole Miss Student Hall of Fame. After 36 graduation from law school, he practiced law in Grenada with his 37 father under the firm name of Dye & Dye; and

38 WHEREAS, in 1959, Brad was elected to the Mississippi House 39 of Representatives. Senator James O. Eastland appointed Dye as an 40 Attorney on the staff of the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee in 41 Washington, D.C., where he worked from 1961 through 1964. Dye was 42 able to fulfill legislative responsibilities by taking a leave of 43 absence from his federal job during the legislative sessions; and

44 WHEREAS, in 1963, he was elected to the Mississippi State 45 Senate. In 1965, he resigned from the Senate to accept an 46 appointment by Governor Paul B. Johnson as a Commissioner on the 47 Workers' Compensation Commission; and

48 WHEREAS, in 1968, Governor John Bell Williams named Dye the 49 Executive Director of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial 50 Board, now the Mississippi Development Authority. During his 51 tenure at the A&I Board, the "Shipyard of the Future" was built on 52 the west bank at Ingalls Shipyard. Brad also oversaw the 53 rebuilding of the State Port at Gulfport following Hurricane 54 Camille; and

55 WHEREAS, in 1971, Brad Dye resigned as Director of the A&I 56 Board to enter the race for State Treasurer; he was elected and 57 served in that position until 1976. As State Treasurer, Brad Dye 58 was a member of the State Bond Commission, the Board of the 59 Savings and Loan Association, the State Tag Commission, and the 60 Public Employees' Retirement System, serving one term as Chairman.
61 Following an unsuccessful race for Lieutenant Governor, Brad Dye
62 became President of Jackson Savings and Loan Association, a 63 position he held from January 1976 through March 1979, when he 64 resigned to run again for the Office of Lieutenant Governor, this 65 time successfully; and

66 WHEREAS, in January 1980, Brad Dye was sworn in as the 35th 67 Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, was twice re-elected, and 68 served until 1992, the only person in state history to hold that

69 position for 12 consecutive years. During that historic tenure, 70 he presided over the passage of legislation of immense importance.
71 The single piece of legislation which Brad Dye found most 72 gratifying was the 1987 Comprehensive Four-Lane Highway Program,
73 which is the basis of Mississippi's modern transportation system
74 and provided an essential component of economic and industrial 75 development. Dye's role was critical in the 1982 passage of 76 Governor William F. Winter's comprehensive education reform
77 package. Dye's additional impact on education included the 78 creation of the Institute of Technology Development, the founding
79 of the Mississippi School for Mathematics and Science at Columbus, 80 and his demonstrated strong support of the University Medical 81 Center, the Department of Mental Health, vocational-technical 82 education, and universities and community colleges; and

83 WHEREAS, he was the Charter President of the University of 84 Mississippi Business Alumni Chapter. A life member of the Alumni
85 Association, in 2006 he was inducted into the Ole Miss Alumni Hall
86 of Fame, and in 2014 into the Ole Miss Law Alumni Hall of Fame.
87 In 2009, the Political Science Department of the University named 88 him the first recipient of its Distinguished Alumni Award and 89 established a public service scholarship in his name. He also was 90 a member of the Political Science Advisory Board; and

91 WHEREAS, in 2010, Governor Haley Barbour presented Brad Dye
92 the Mississippi Medal of Service. Brad's volunteer activities
93 have been varied. As a long-time Red Cross Water Safety

94 Instructor, he taught life-saving and swimming to hundreds of 95 young people in Grenada and Tallahatchie Counties; and

96 WHEREAS, Brad was the Charter Vice-President of the Grenada
97 Jaycees and served as the Chairman of the Grenada County Cancer
98 Society Fund Drive. After moving to Jackson in 1965, he was a
99 member of the Executive Board of the Andrew Jackson Council, Boy
100 Scouts of America, the Board of the United Way of the Capital 101 Area, the Board of Directors of Jackson Junior Achievement, the 102 Advisory Council on Programs and Research for the College of 103 Business and Industry, Mississippi State University, and the 104 Beauvoir Development Foundation, Inc. He was State Fund Chairman 105 in 1972 for the Mississippi Chapter, American Red Cross, and 106 served in 1973 and 1974 as Mississippi Heart Fund Chairman. For a 107 number of years, he coached youth sports teams in basketball, 108 baseball, and football organized by the YMCA. Brad and his wife 109 were involved with the Governor's School Parents' Association for 110 several years as Co-Chairmen. Most recently, he served on the 111 advisory board of the Mid-South Housing Foundation; and

112 WHEREAS, Dye, a life-long Methodist, was an active member of 113 three metro Jackson churches: Galloway Memorial United Methodist

117 his family. He is survived by his wife of 55 years, the former 118 Donna Bailey of Coffeenville, Mississippi; his three sons: Hamp

119 (Shannon) of Madison, Ford (Sonya) of Oxford, and Rick (Emily) of 120 Jackson; five grandchildren: Nathan (Hannah), David, Emma, Jack, 121 and Margaret; and one great-granddaughter, Ann Hampton; and

122 WHEREAS, Brad Dye was a master of the politics of legislative 123 negotiation and compromise. He was unafraid to cross partisan, 124 racial, sectional, or factional lines to get the business of the 125 Legislature done. He kept his fences mended with the House and 126 with Speaker C.B. "Buddie" Newman and his key Committee Chairmen.
127 Former State Senator Ben Stone stated: "Brad was a long-time 128 friend and always loyal even if there was an issue on which we 129 disagreed. His leadership was much greater than the offices he 130 held. Our Gulf Coast received benefits after Hurricane Camille 131 when he directed the rebuilding of the State Port at Gulfport. He 132 was a leader in all he did. The state is a great deal better for 133 all he did. He was a magnificent example for all who want to 134 contribute to bettering all of our lives"; and 135 WHEREAS, Brad Dye loved life, laughter and the Legislature.

136 His long service was marked by his commitment to success and 137 recognized leadership. He excelled in a variety of major 138 responsibilities and served the Senate, his constituents and the 139 State of Mississippi exceptionally well. Brad's public service 140 was exemplified by fairness and sound judgment, and he set the 141 highest standard as a leader in the Mississippi Senate, and as a 142 true friend:

143 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF 144 MISSISSIPPI, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING THEREIN, That 145 we do hereby mourn the loss and commend the life and public 146 service of Bradford Johnson Dye, Jr., long-time Legislator and 147 former Lieutenant Governor from Charleston, Mississippi, and 148 extend the condolences of the Mississippi Senate to his surviving 149 family.

150 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this resolution be presented to 151 the surviving family of former Lieutenant Governor Brad Dye and 152 made available to the Capitol Press Corps.
