SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 552

1 A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECOGNIZING UNITED STATES DISTRICT 2 JUDGE OF THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI, DEBRA M. BROWN, AS 3 MISSISSIPPI'S FIRST AFRICAN AMERICAN FEMALE CHIEF FEDERAL JUDGE. 4 WHEREAS, we join the Mississippi legal community in congratulating Mississippi State Alumna and United States District 5 Judge Debra M. Brown as she becomes the Magnolia State's first 6 7 African American female Chief Federal Judge. A ceremony was held on June 11, 2021, at the United States Courthouse in Greenville, 8 9 where Judge Brown received the gavel and became the new Chief Judge of the Northern District of Mississippi. She succeeded 10 11 District Judge Sharion Aycock in the role of Chief Judge; and 12 WHEREAS, Judge Brown has served as a District Judge since 13 being nominated by former President Barack Obama and unanimously 14 confirmed by the United States Senate in 2013. When Judge Debra 15 Brown was sworn into office as a District Judge for the Northern 16 District of Mississippi, she became the first African American female to serve as a Federal District Judge in Mississippi. Her 17 18 investiture as District Judge was also held in Greenville, where

Senators Cochran and Wicker had both 21 strongly supported Judge Brown's nomination, and they both spoke 22 extensively on her behalf when her nomination was brought before 23 the full Senate for a vote; and

24 WHEREAS, like the late Senior District Judge William Barbour and District Judge Carlton Reeves, Judge Debra Brown is a Yazoo 25 26 City native. She is one of five sisters, and her parents, Willie 27 James and Ruthie Brown, had high expectations for each of them. 28 Judge Brown's college Dean at Mississippi State University 29 recalled that her key character traits were perseverance, 30 diligence and focus. After graduating from Mississippi State University's School of Architecture, she served as a member of the 31 32 school's Advisory Council. In her senior year, Judge Brown won the top Architecture Student Honor, the Alpha Rho Chi Medal. 33 34 Judge Brown graduated from the School of Architecture in 1987. 35 After graduation, she worked as an Architect in Washington, D.C., where she participated in the renovation and restoration of 36 37 municipal and historic buildings and in the construction of 38 commercial and residential properties; and

39 WHEREAS, after serving as Associate Articles Editor of the 40 Mississippi Law Journal, Judge Brown received her law degree from 41 the University of Mississippi School of Law in 1997. Upon 42 entering the bar, Judge Brown became the only lawyer in 43 Mississippi with degrees in both Architecture and Law. In 1997,

WHEREAS, with her background in architecture, it is not 47 48 surprising that Judge Brown specialized in commercial construction 49 litigation, although her civil litigation practice covered a wide 50 range of topics. During her 16 years in private practice, Judge 51 Brown was active in several bar associations, including the 52 American Bar Association, the National Bar Association, the 53 Federal Bar Association, the Magnolia Bar Association, and the 54 Mississippi Women Lawyers Association, which she served as 55 President. She is also a Fellow of the Mississippi Bar 56 In 2004, Judge Brown received the Jackson Young Foundation. 57 Lawyers Outstanding Service Award, and in 2008, she was recognized 58 by the Mississippi Business Journal as one of Mississippi's 59 Leading Businesswomen. Judge Brown also served on the Board of 60 the Mississippi Center for Justice and Operation Shoestring; and

WHEREAS, at her investiture, Judge Brown took the oath of 61 62 office with her hand on a Bible held by her mother, Ruthie Brown. 63 In her remarks to the assembly, she said, "I do not take lightly 64 the historical significance of this moment in Mississippi history, 65 and I am acutely aware of the magnitude of this judicial position and the responsibility that goes along with it. I promise you 66 67 that I will at all times give it the respect it deserves and approach it with humility. I will approach every decision I make 68
